ARTIST'S RENDERING of the 15,000 square foot office building to be constructed for the Naval Oceanography Command at the Stennis Space Center.

Oceanography building Construction underway

Rear Admiral James E. Koehr, USN, Commander, Naval Oceanography Command broke ground on July 15 for a new administration building that will serve as his headquarters.

The $1.6 million building will be constructed at the Stennis Space Center in Hancock County. Koehr's staff is presently housed in three separate buildings at the center.

The contract to build the 15,000 square foot facility has been awarded to the TAC Construction Co., Inc., of Jackson. It was designed by the architectural firm of Cooke, Douglass and Farr/LTD also of Jackson. It is expected to be ready for occupancy in late 1989.

Joining Koehr for the ceremonial groundbreaking were his chief of staff, Navy Capt. William A. Raines, Stennis Space Center director Jerry Hlass, architect Rob Farr, TAC president Eddie Burns, and Lt. Cmdr. Roger Mustain, resident officer in charge of construction NCBC Gulfport.

Koehr heads a worldwide organization of over 3,000 officer, enlisted, and civilian personnel at some 65 locations. The Naval Oceanography Command is responsible for providing oceanographic, meteorological, and mapping, chartering and geodetic services to the Navy.

Official praise, concern voiced on rocket testing

BY D.C. HARVILL

Local officials are disappointed that Stennis Space Center was not selected as the production site for NASA's Advanced Solid Rocket Motor project, and some are not sure the number of jobs to be created by the center's selection as the project's test facility will compensate for the environmental risks.

NASA announced Tuesday that production of the ASRM would go to the site of the abandoned Yellow Creek Nuclear Power Plant in Tishomingo County in northeast Mississippi and that the engines would be tested at SSC.

Accessories and small parts will be built at the Michoud Assembly Center in New Orleans. The project will also utilize support from NASA's Slidell Computer Complex.

The ASRM is intended to improve the launch capacity of the Space Shuttle, allowing it to carry loads 12,000 pounds into space.

Until Tuesday's announcement it was expected the entire project would go to a single site.

The split means approximately 400 jobs will be created at SSC and 200 at Michoud and Slidell, while 1400 will go to Tishomingo County.

construction phase.

SSC Chief Engineer Jack Rogers said that figure was high considering the number of people employed on similar projects in the past.

"We worked very hard on this," said Hlass. "Yes, there is some disappointment, but we did get a piece of the pie. This proves they listened to us and they listened to Yellow Creek."

Hlass said he was not given a reason for the selection, but did say that the selection committee was favorably pleased with the large investment already made at the Yellow Creek site.

"I'm extremely disappointed," said state Senator Margaret "Wootsey" Tate of Picayune. "I'm mad and I'm hurt. I would have rather lost my election than lose that bid."

"We feel like we should have the whole project because we are taking all the ecological risk, and they (Yellow Creek) are getting the cream of the crop without any of the risks," Tate continued.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Franckiewicz, a former planner at Martin-Marietta's Michoud plant, echoed Tate's ecological concerns.

Park expected to run fairgrounds

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Park Commission is expected to vote Aug. 8 to take over management of the Hancock County Fairgrounds.

County Recreation Director Hilda Bourg, whose department the park commission serves as an advisory board, said she expects at least three affirmative votes on the matter.

At least three commissioners on the five-member board have told her they would approve having the park commission in charge of the fairgrounds and the building there, which was recently renovated under an extension of the original bond issue.

The Hancock County Fair and Livestock Association, which had leased the facility from the county, voluntarily disbanded earlier this month.

Association President Walter Turcotte submitted a letter to the board of supervisors, which explained that the decision to disband was based on a need for a full-time agency to control the fairgrounds, due to the amount of county funds invested in the facility.

Bourg said she does not think that having the fairgrounds under the jurisdiction of her department, which also handles the county's community centers, ballparks and other recreational facilities, will create any adverse impact on the department's budget.

Maintenance monies will come out of the county's building and grounds maintenance fund, a division of the county road and bridge fund, rather than the recreation budget.

Bourg said the rent fees charged for use of the building usually cover utilities as well as pay for a deputy or some other officer to keep order or park

County anticipates hospital sale

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors once again has a possibility of selling the old Hancock General Hospital building.

On Monday, the board met with Barbara Stewart of Commercial Realty Associates, who has been trying to help the county find a buyer for the building. This time the prospective buyer is Southern Health Enterprises Inc., which is offering $400,000.

The supervisors attempted twice to attract bids for sale of the building and have had two other offers. One failed several months ago when the prospective buyer was unable to obtain a certificate of public need from the state.

Stewart said her clients plan to use the facility for care of patients who are basically ambulatory but need assistance with medication and other health care needs, for which a certificate of need does not have to be obtained.

In addition, the firm is attempting to obtain a certificate of need to add a nursing home on the remaining property.

Southern Health Enterprises has asked for a 10-year tax exemption that will apply to county property taxes but not to school district taxes.

However, Board President Ronald Cuevas stated that he would be reluctant to grant any exemption unless the board first receives a guarantee that at least 12 jobs will be maintained.

He said it might cause hard feelings from other businesses that have not been granted such exemptions in the past, but the present board has no way of knowing whether other businesses have even applied for exemptions.

Details regarding the sale are being worked out and the board is expected to take action at its Friday meeting, which begins at 9 a.m. in the upstairs boardroom of the Hancock County Courthouse.

Bourg, Franckiewicz return from Atlanta

BY DENA BISNETTE

Two Hancock Countians who served as delegate and alternate delegate to the Democratic National Convention in Atlanta, Ga., have returned after helping their candidate, Michael Dukakis, be selected as Democratic presidential nominee.

Hilda Bourg of Diamondhead was the only delegate who actually supported Dukakis from the beginning of the campaign.

The Mississippi delegation was originally split up among several candidates, some of whom dropped out of the race prior to the convention. The majority of the Mississippi delegation actually chose Jesse Jackson as their candidate, although Dukakis won the national nomination by acclamation.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor

Franckiewicz Jr. served as an alternate delegate, also for Dukakis. As an alternate, he was able to divide his time between the convention and a number of mayors' meetings and related events, Bourg said.

Bourg said that Mississippi turned out to have the delegation with the most diversified views.

"We were the most widely televised delegation because of our differences," she said, explaining that when the delegation had to choose between submitting a unanimous vote for one candidate and each delegate's vote for an individual candidate, she knew a unanimous vote would not be possible.

While divided on the candidate, the delegation was not divided very much on the platform it was supporting, Franckiewicz stated.

Bourg explained that there were only three major differences between the Jackson supporters ideas and those of the Dukakis supporters, dealing with taxes, defense and the Mideast. She said Dukakis favors neglected taxes being collected rather than new ones levied, freezing military spending by cutting administrative and organization funding and instead applying the monies to defense, and applying the Camp David Accord by putting the U.S. into a leadership position regarding the Mideast.

"My job was to mediate within the group before the vote was taken," Bourg explained. She said she met a variety of people ranging from public officials and national press representatives to a group of Arkansas delegates staying at the same hotel.

"From gavel to gavel I was on Cloud Nine," she said. "It was an experience I wouldn't want anybody to pass up."

"The Arkansas delegation was almost exactly the opposite of ours," she said.

Because the shuttles from the hotels housing the delegates only ran two hours before the convention, the delegates who were too busy to be two hours early each day had to find other rides.

"One day I caught a ride with the ABC television crew. That was the day after the Jackson speech and they had the same feeling I had. It was a very emotional speech," she said.

Franckiewicz said the division between the Dukakis and Jackson supporters was a friendly one, and Bourg described how all the Dukakis signs were removed during Jackson's speech.

"We gave him that courtesy," she said. "That was his night."

The mayor also said he felt that the press coverage of the convention was generally quite favorable to Mississippi.

He said the convention "was primarily a media event and a successful one at that."

Mississippi was not treated from the angles of backwardness or racism that have been common in the past, and got a lot of good exposure with coverage of Governor Ray Mabus, who was one of four governors chosen to speak to delegates on closed circuit television.

"Mississippi came up smelling like a rose on the national press. We showed that we are not a bunch of country bumpkins. Time after time people made the comment that Mississippi is really on the move," Franckiewicz said.

Bourg stated that her experience at the convention changed

Commission urged to consider private owner, environment

BY D.C. HARVILL

Several issues are of prime importance in determining the state's policy toward its Public Trust Tidelands, according to a guest speaker at a Monday night meeting of the commission whose responsibility it is to determine that policy.

John Thornton of Florida-

based Tycor Title Insurance Company spoke before the Blue Ribbon Commission on his experience with the policy developed by Florida regarding its tidelands.

"First and foremost should be the protection of the private land-owner. He is a citizen, a tax-payer and a voter. The private land-owners are the people you as a commission are responsible to," Thornton said.

"You have some of the most beautiful beaches I've seen anywhere," Thornton said. "I've seen slides of your swamplands. They are beautiful. You have to protect those. You have to protect the ecology."

Regulatory bodies can protect the land whether it is in private hands or state hands, Thornton said, and that the commission might consider the possibility of protecting fragile lands both above and below the mean high tide mark without removing them from private ownership.

"If the state wants to make money off the land," Thornton continues, "They have to own it, but if they want to preserve it they don't have to."

Thornton also said that, until the state establishes a definitive tidelands policy, sale and development of coastal property will be seriously impeded, because no one will want to buy property that may be taken from them by the state.

Most of those offering comments at the meeting at the Hancock County Courthouse in Gulfport, urged the commission to determine the policy as quickly and as equitably as possible.

Several of those speaking suggested that the commission establish a grandfather rule allowing developments done on affected property before a certain date to be exempted from any adverse action by the state.

THE CONSTITUTION

More than 200 years ago, an explosive idea known as the Declaration of Independence set the stage for a democracy in the United States. Eleven years later, the ideals inherent in that declaration were implemented in the Constitution to establish a workable democratic government.

"America's Testament," a five-part series hosted by Mortimer Adler and based upon his book, We Hold These Truths, explores the ideas and ideals in these two American documents of freedom. It premieres on Mississippi ETV at noon, Sunday, July 31.

Each hour-long program features dialogues with noted historians, publishers and educators, who explore the fundamental principles on which government in the U.S. was formed.

"I'm glad for Mississippi as a whole but I'm disappointed we only got the test," Frankiewicz said.

"I'm skeptical about the number of jobs they say we will get," Frankiewicz continued. "I'm not sure the number of jobs will outweigh the environmental risk involved in the test."

According to NASA chemist Rebecca McCaleb, test firing the engines produces hydrogen chloride and aluminum particulates which should cause no serious problems if the test are done properly, during periods of no rain.

"We have a four hour window in which no rain rain is expected in which we can do a test," McCaleb said.

The precautions are taken, according to an evaluation published by NASA during the selection process, to minimize the fallout of acid rain downwind of the test.

Reportedly the each test will generate approximately 200,000 pounds of gaseous hydrogen chloride, which, when mixed with water in the atmosphere makes hydrochloric acid.

Rogers said the engines usually are tested horizontally with the exhaust being directed upward into the atmosphere by a sloped ramp allowing pollutants to disperse over a greater area.

Each test, according to an evaluation issued during the site selection process, also generates 315,750 pounds of aluminum oxide in particulate form.

Test conducted at Morton Thiokol's solid rocket motor test facility in Utah show that a large percentage of the aluminum oxide produce during firing are deposited on the ground immediately downrange of the test.

"The effects of heavy concentrations of aluminum oxide in the environment and whether hazardous or toxic conditions result are not known.

Aluminum has been implicated recently as a suspected cause of Alzheimer's Disease.

VBS to emphasize Animals in Bible

"Animals in the Bible" will be the theme of this year's Vacation Bible School at the First Presbyterian Church of Bay St. Louis August 1 through 5.

The role of these animals in the lives of God's people will be emphasized as well as the need to care for all animals.

Young children will bring stuffed toys to VBS for a contest and parade. Food and money will be collected for the animal shelter, teaching the children the importance of caring for animals.

Bible school coordinators hope to have a member of the Humane Society visit the school with some of the animals to be found at the shelter and to promote adoption of these homeless animals.

"This theme was decided upon months ago, before the publicity of the plight of the shelter," said the VBS director. "We are delighted that we can help bring attention to this shelter and promote the well-being of all animals at this critical time in our community."

All children 3 to 11 are invited to attend VBS at 114 Ulman Avenue from 9 to 11:30 a.m. on August 1 through 5. Crafts, music, recreation, and snacks will be featured. The closing ceremony will be on August 5 at 7:00 p.m. Pre-registration will be Saturday, July 30 at 10 a.m. or by calling 467-7449.

CAREFREE CAMPING

With summer moving into high gear, families all over America are rolling up their sleeping bags, packing the camper and heading for the open road.

Family camping trips conjure up images of days spent hiking, fishing and exploring. But, if you've never camped out before, how do you turn those ideal images into real fun?

ETV viewers can join Doug and Karen DeGood for the five-part "Carefree Camping." It premieres at 4 p.m., Sunday, July 31, on Mississippi ETV.

"Carefree Camping" helps beginning and experienced campers make the most of their next camping trip by offering step-by-step instruction on selecting a suitable campsite, using proper equipment, cooking on a camping trip, packing tips and even being prepared for emergency situations.

Chamber directors elected

Three directors were elected to the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's board of directors to fill vacancies on Tuesday.

The election was held by the chamber's directors at the regular monthly meeting.

Randy Castello, Bay St. Louis-Pass Christian Mississippi Power Company manager; Bill Lady, Waveland Resort Inn; and Buz Olsen, Hancock County Port & Harbor executive director, were elected to fill vacancies which are to expire in Dec. 1989.

The vacancies were created with the resignations of Mike Witte, Pam Parker, and Mary Perkins. President Rick Egan, also said Sybil Paul, an appointed director also submitted here resignation.

The president said he plans on submitting the name of another person to the board of directors to replace Paul.

Witte was also the chamber's vice-president and the directors elected Charles (Chuck) Benvenutti CPA to fill the vacancy.

Hancock road contract let JACKSON—A contract for work in Hancock County has been awarded by the Mississippi State Highway Commission according to John R. Tabb, director of the Mississippi State Highway Department.

Bush Construction Company of Laurel received the contract award at a cost of $387,569.10.

Tabb said the contract provides for the overlaying of approximately 10 miles of Mississippi Highway 43 beginning at the Pearl River County Line and ending at the intersection with Mississippi Highway 603.

Tabb said one of the primary goals of the highway department is to maintain its existing roadways, and he is pleased funds are available for this much-needed maintenance project.

Tabb explained that not only does the overlaying process create a smoother surface to travel upon, it also provides a safer one.

Motorists are encouraged to drive carefully through the project limits.

The completion date is Nov. 8, 1988.

There are only a few days left to take advantage of renewing memberships or becoming a new member in Mobile Medic/Amserv Ambulance Service for the coming year.

The deadline is July 31, which is Sunday.

I am just mentioning this in case you may have forgotten to take care of your membership.

Membership still only costs $39 annually for a family and now the service includes six area counties.

I sent in my family membership two weeks ago because I know the importance of being a member.

Those of you early risers do not want to forget the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Morning Edition today at 7:30 a.m. at the Wheel Inn Restaurant.

Frank Schatzle manager of Analysis & Technology, Bay St. Louis, is the scheduled speaker.

Schatzle will be speaking of his company's role in Hancock County's high-tech industry.

We are hoping there will be a large number in attendance and the chamber meeting is open to the public as well as members.

We hope to see you at 7:30 a.m.

It is rather hard this week to get back in the groove of working after spending four days last week in Las Vegas.

We always thought of New Orleans as being the city that never sleeps, but Vegas has to be the king city of no sleeping.

It has taken me several good nights to get back into my regular sleeping habits.

At the publishers meeting in Vegas I got to see some long time friends such as Randy and Sherry Ponder and Jerry Whittle who were both general managers of the Echo before becoming a publisher.

Randy is only a short distance away at Bayou LaBatre, Ala. and Jerry is in Thompson, Georgia.

It was good to get together with Randy, Sherry and Jerry and other friends with whom we have become acquainted over the years.

Yes, my pocket book was a little lighter when I returned home and Jane's was a little heavier.

It does one good to get away from the old grind for a few days now and then.

The recent improvements of the sidewalk on the north side of Main Street was welcomed by many of us walkers.

It enabled a person to walk on the sidewalk all the way from Beach Boulevard to US-90 without having to step out into the street except at road crossings.

The uninterrupted walk is not possible now because a section of the sidewalk has become victim to the invasion of weeds and a pedestrian now has once again to step out into the street near the end of the 400 block of Main Street.

These appear to be a fast growing type of weeds and who knows, they may even block the entire street if they are not soon controlled.

Senator's Mobile Office to visit five coast

Senator Thad Cochran is dispatching his mobile office staff to five Gulf Coast area counties on August 9 and 10.

The senator's mobile office staff will make stops in Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, George and Stone counties during the two-day span.

On Tuesday, August 9, the senator's mobile office staff will be at the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis at 11 a.m., the Harrison County Courthouse in Gulfport at 2 p.m., and the Harrison County Courthouse in Biloxi at 4 p.m.

On Wednesday, August 10, the mobile office staff will be at the Jackson County Courthouse in Pascagoula at 9 a.m., the George County Courthouse in Lucedale at 11 a.m., and the Stone County Courthouse in Wiggins at 1:30 p.m.

The visits by Senator Cochran's office to Bay St. Louis, Gulfport, Biloxi, Pascagoula, Lucedale and Wiggins on August 9 and 10 are part of the constituent service program he initiated to help provide direct contact between his office and citizens and officials at the local level in the state's 82 counties.

Humane Society president seeks reader input on future of Animal Shelter

July 26, 1988
Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis
Dear Sir:

In November 1987 I made my first visit to the Hancock County Animal Shelter in Waveland. The following scenario was encountered:

* The ammonia smell of urine was so strong my eyes were watering.

* Animals with open wounds were lying soaking wet on the concrete.

* Sick animals were lying in their own bile-green vomit.

* Cages were so filled with feces and urine the animals were forced to lie in their own excrements.

* All the dogs were wet, and water dripped from the smaller dogs. Puppies were huddled together shivering.

* Food bowls contained damp, moldy food.

* The water bowls were filled with brown-colored water and dead roaches.

* The formerly white walls were brown-colored from repeated hosing of feces on the walls.

* Cat litter boxes were filled with feces and urine.

* Food and garbage cans were open and filled with flies.

* Animals were covered with ticks and fleas.

* The front office was filled with cigarette smoke and a television was blaring.

What I saw that day and within the next few days motivated me to call for an emergency meeting of the Board of Directors of the Humane Society.

The board passed a motion to report the deplorable conditions to the Hancock Animal Commission and such was done at the November meeting.

At that Hancock Animal Commission meeting several of the commissioners and the two wardens considered the complaints to be a laughing situation.

Mr. Cel Dumestre said to me, "Gal, you'll just have to get used to the way things are done on the Gulf Coast."

In December, 1987, the Humane Society general membership was informed of the conditions found at the shelter and as fortune would have it, a visitor from another state, Mrs. M. Williamson, presented a letter to the Society.

Mrs. Williamson, who is now a taxpaying citizen of Hancock County had been actively involved with an animal shelter in Louisiana maintained by Humane Society, county and municipal funds.

The following was expressed by this visitor, "I cannot say enough derogatory things about the Waveland Shelter! I was appalled and upset to the point of nausea at what I saw!" The list of descriptions went on and on.

The Humane Society voted to investigate the situation and present the findings to the Hancock Animal Commission.

After investigating, Mr. Paul Barkmeier, the Hancock County Humane Society cruelty investigator, returned with a charge of cruelty by neglect and presented a list and photographs to substantiate his decision.

These findings along with suggestions on how to improve the situation were presented to the Hancock Animal Commission in December.

This time the commissioners were more attentive and courteous but only because the Channel 13 News team was present.

Before the next HAC meeting I was appointed to the commission as a representative of the society.

Since that time I have diligently attempted to work through the commission to improve the shelter situation.

I have spent many, many hours cleaning, scrubbing, bathing dogs and cats, walking dogs and other chores as a volunteer at the shelter.

Some improvements have occurred since the society became actively involved, yet these have been few and inconsistent and many more need to be made.

Waveland brags about how much money they have spent on the shelter but they are not the only ones. HCHS has donated almost $13,000 in funds and supplies including a freezer to store cadavers, stainless steel cages for cats, a two-way radio for the warden's truck, a storage shed for food and litter and much more.

When I first started working at the shelter cleaning supplies were totally inadequate.

For instance, the same bucket was used to clean stalls and cages and then was used to carry food to the animals.

Once again the Humane Society bought extra buckets, hoses, brooms, mops, shampoo, bleach and disinfectant.

There is a serious problem in management, personnel and medical treatment at the shelter.

These problems are not new. They have existed for years despite repeated complaints.

The Waveland authorities are proposing to eliminate any input to the commission by the other entities and allow these same people to continue to manage the shelter.

It is time to put the blame on the true culprits, not try to blame or kick out those who are trying to improve the deplorable conditions found and perpetuated at the shelter.

I believe the basic philosophy of the "powers that be" are epitomized in the following statement recently made to the press by the veterinary advisor, "This is one of the finest shelters in the state of Mississippi."

Unfortunately, the level of standards accepted by the present management is far below the national standard.

One only has to drive to Gulfport to the Harrison County SPCA Animal Shelter to see that conditions can be better in Mississippi and on the Gulf Coast.

Remember, an institution can only be as good as the imagination, experience and dedication of those who have the responsibility of control.

These people have managed the shelter for all these years and we have seen the best that they can do.

Several years ago attempts by the Humane Society to make changes were met with the same resistance or more than we are faced with today.

They failed because they were so few in numbers.

The HCHS of today has grown immensely and we have some of the most electric, energetic, educated and able-bodied officers and members willing to donate their time and effort to have a shelter we can all be proud of.

Many have been involved in shelters throughout the nation. They know what is and what is not acceptable.

This is 1988. Isn't it time for Hancock County to move into the Twentieth Century and catch up with the rest of the nation?

Now is the time to make some changes. You can either condone it by doing nothing or you can do something about it. The decision is yours. I await your answer.

Sincerely,
Thyla P. Rogers
President

New Waveland pier, like old one, should be open, free

July 22, 1988
Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Sir:

Last Wednesday night I addressed the Board of Aldermen of the City of Waveland and inquired as to the necessity for charging a fee for using the new pier.

I was told by Mayor John Longo that it was necessary to hire rangers to place a 24 hour guard on the pier.

The people of Bay St. Louis have two public piers which can be used by them without charge.

There are no guards assigned on a 24 hour basis to those piers.

I have to question the motives of the honorable Mayor Longo and the Waveland Board of Aldermen.

Could it be that the mayor has certain persons in mind whom he wants to give jobs to at the expense of the poor people of the City of Waveland who can least afford to pay a fee?

Does the mayor want to keep the poor people off of the pier?

At the present time anyone who wants to fish from the Ladner Pier in Waveland can do so without charge.

The mayor and board of aldermen are going to take that right away from the people; and they call that progress.

At the present time, the poor can use the Ladner Pier to catch much needed fish for their families at no charge. There has never been a charge for use of the pier which is within walking distance of many of the lowest income people in Waveland.

The use of the pier should continue to be free.

In Congress

TOUGH CHOICE

One of the toughest decisions a President of the United States faces is made before he even takes office. Our Constitution permits the President to choose one man or woman to be his running mate; his vice president.

George Washington chose our first vice president, John Adams, and apparently he made a pretty good choice. Adams went on to win the Presidency eight years later.

So what does a Chief Executive look for in a running mate? I think he should pay particular attention to two areas.

Politically he must look for someone who will help him get elected. He could choose someone who helps him in a particular region of the country or someone who helps him broaden his base of support. If he is fortunate, he will find the person who aids him in both areas.

And it pretty much goes without saying, that he or she should be qualified for the post. Government experience, preferably at different levels, is essential.

But above all, a President should choose a person he can rely upon; for advice, for counsel and for support.

In my opinion a V.P. must work closely with the President, never against him. That doesn't mean he or she should not offer advice or suggestions. An effective vice president should tell his boss when he agrees with him and when he doesn't and he should be prepared to back up those positions. But, when a final decision is reached, and in the White House only one person casts the deciding vote, the V.P. should support that decision and do so wholeheartedly.

Woodrow Wilson once called the Presidency "an office in which a man must put on his war paint." Perhaps so, but when the troops decide on a strategy, the troops must be united.

Teamwork is important at every level of government, but especially in the executive branch. The president sets the course for our country. We can't use more than one map a time.

Picking a vice president isn't easy, but in my opinion, that's the way it should be.

Governor's Column

By Governor Ray Mabus

We all share a desire to achieve the best here in Mississippi, and I am pleased to be able to say that we took a strong step in that direction recently in the area of economic development.

Several weeks ago, we got the very best—J. MacHolladay—to direct the Mississippi Department of Economic Development. A Memphis native and former director of South Carolina's economic development program, MacHolladay has established an enviable record of helping put people to work, increasing their incomes and assisting local communities to do—on an ongoing basis—what they can do best. That is, promote their areas to business and industry.

MacHolladay is not a traditional developer because he believes that certain basics, left unfulfilled, undercut any efforts the Department of Economic Development might undertake. He is just as concerned about education as he is advertising campaigns. He is just as determined to ensure that our state has good transportation and infrastructure systems as he is entertaining business prospects. He knows that the best way to attract business to Mississippi is to establish an environment and workforce that they need.

While head of the Charleston, S.C. Chamber of Commerce, MacHolladay helped turn that city around. Today it is one of the jewels of the South—a thriving, active and prosperous community.

As head of South Carolina's Economic Development Department, MacHolladay saw South Carolina's per capita income make dramatic improvements while business capital investment broke records in that state.

He and South Carolina's economic development programs have been recognized nationally as innovative and first rate.

At the state level, we are looking at shrinking the size of government so that we can do more with less and plan better for future generations.

At the county level, we must change for the beat system of county government to the unit system. Business people understand that the unit system saves money and works better. It is good business for the taxpayers.

MacHolladay and I are firmly committed to putting Mississippians to work. And we look forward to working with you in the months ahead.

Ole Miss sets waste management seminars for cities, counties

UNIVERSITY—Mississippi cities and counties are facing growing problems with landfills and other waste disposal programs going into the 1990s, including space shortages, compliance with rapidly-changing regulations and the threat of pollution to precious groundwater aquifers.

A series of three 1½ day seminars has been set by The University of Mississippi's Center for Public Service and Continuing Studies, the School of Engineering at Ole Miss and the Mississippi Department of Natural Resources to brief city and county officials on waste management problems and potentials.

The overview program is designed for county supervisors, mayors and aldermen, city and county engineers, planning board and council members, city and county attorneys and administrators and public works directors.

They are scheduled for: —Sept. 14-15, Yerby Conference Center, Ole Miss Oxford campus;

—Sept. 28-29, Royal d'Iberville, Biloxi;

—Oct. 5-6, Holiday Inn North, Jackson

Topics and speakers include: —"State Regulations and Related Environmental Protection Agency Federal Guidelines" and "The Process of Obtaining Permits in Mississippi" by Billy Warden, coordinator, nonhazardous waste section, Bureau of Pollution Control.

—"Role of Geology and Ground Water in Site Selection," by Michael C. Seal, assistant chief, environmental section, Bureau of Geology.

—"Geology of the Region," by David C. Booth, environmental section geologist.

—"General Data on Wastes," "Methods of Waste Management," "The Site Selection Process" and "The Future of Waste Management for Communities" by Dr. Nolan B. Aughenbaugh, professor of geological engineering at Ole Miss.

The University professor and seminar director said that design of sanitary landfills and methods of waste disposal have undergone significant changes in the last five years and will continue to be affected by changes in state and federal regulations. There are major concerns over possible pollution of ground water, he noted.

Mississippi Department of Natural Resources spokesmen said that a majority of the state's existing solid waste disposal sites cannot comply with current state guidelines—and the probability of new regulations will bring Mississippi towns and counties under the regulatory authority of the federal government as well as the state.

"These seminars are designed to inform public officials who must develop and administer waste disposal plans," said Lynne Geller, seminar coordinator. "They will hear about present and proposed regulations, the impact of these changes on their areas, ground and surface water factors that must be considered and new developments in design and management and landfills."

"Environmental factors have made this an acute problem in Mississippi and our experts predict that a number of cities and counties will be facing crisis-level problems in the very near future."

Registration fee for the seminars is $125 per person. This includes a comprehensive waste management manual for their continued use, a luncheon and refreshment breaks. Enrollment is limited so early registration is encouraged.

Persons interested in attending should contact: Waste Management Seminar, Center for Public Service and Continuing Studies, P.O. Box 879, University of Mississippi, University, MS 38677-0879. Call Ms. Geller at (601) 232-7282.

She added that although the revenue from fairgrounds rental must, under state-mandated procedures, go into the county's general fund. However, the supervisors have the option of returning some of the money to the recreation department.

"That's a $500,000 building over there and it needs to be marketed. It needs to be promoted and used," Bourg said.

She said the recreation department is now in the process of planning a combined arts and crafts and automobile show for October.

"We want to show off the remodeled building. A lot of people don't even realize that its air-conditioned."

One of Bourg's goals is to make the fairgrounds arena safe again. She said it is not useable now because "the bleachers are in deplorable condition."

The supervisors have also been asked to provide a soccer field on fairgrounds property. Bourg said that providing a fenced, lighted field would be expensive but could be her department's next "community project."

The board, however, must first find out how much land will be left when a proposed office and maintenance building for Hancock County Waste-water District No. 1 is constructed at the rear of the fairgrounds property behind East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department's Chapman Road station.

The department's first community project is a walking and exercise track at Hancock Medical Center. Much of the material and labor for the project will be donated and additional help is still being sought.

"Anything we offer to the community, we will need the community's support, such as donated labor," Bourg explained. "We'll need that if we decide we can fit a soccer field onto the property left."

Right now, the recreation department is involved in preparations for repair of the county's various community centers. Bourg said the centers have been inventoried and that all of them need at least some repair to roofs, flooring or plumbing and a few lack refrigerators.

Anyone who wants to volunteer on a community project or wants to obtain additional information about the recreation department can contact Bourg's office at 255-4425.

Natural family planning is the term used to describe methods for planning a family which does not use chemicals, drugs or devices. These methods are based on signs and symptoms of fertility and infertility which occur naturally in the woman's cycle. The Ovulation Method has been determined by the World Health Organization to be 97 - 99% effective. The benefits of the Ovulation Method are: no harmful side effects, promotes shared responsibility for family planning, promotes the woman's health and her general sense of well being and can be used throughout the woman's reproductive life from puberty to menopause. Whether you voted for me Saturday or not, I want to thank you.

It takes a special kind of person to turn out on a Saturday and vote in an election with only one race on the ballot.

My hat is off to the nearly 75,000 people in South Mississippi who took part of their Saturday to do just that.

My campaign has not been about "good ol' boy" politics. It's been about changing the way we do business in the Highway Commission.

It's been about restoring honesty and integrity to the office, so that hardworking taxpayers like you get the best highways for the best price.

It's obvious the voters are ready for a change. More than 15,000 endorsed my candidacy in the primary.

Now, with the runoff just days away, I'll need the vote of each and every citizen who believes as I do that the problems in our Highway Commission must be fixed and fixed now.

If you supported a candidate in the primary who is no longer in the race, I urge you not to lose interest now. Our highways affect our economy, our safety and our future. It's too important to stay home.

Please vote in the August 6th runoff. And please vote for Sidney Barnett.

Southern Company forms nuclear power subsidiary

The board of directors of The Southern Company has approved the formation of a new subsidiary -- Southern Nuclear Operating Company -- to provide management and technical services for the nuclear power plants in the Southern electric system.

The Southern Company (NYSE:SO) is the parent firm of five electric utilities: Alabama Power, Georgia Power, Gulf Power, Mississippi Power, and Savannah Electric.

Alabama Power owns and operates the Farley nuclear plant near Dothan, Ala. Georgia Power is the principal owner and has responsibility for operating the Hatch nuclear plant near Baxley, Ga., and the Vogtle nuclear plant near Augusta, Ga.

In announcing the plan to establish this new unit, Southern Company President Edward L. Addison said, "Our objective is to create a single focus, single purpose organization to enhance the safety and performance of the six nuclear units in our system."

"By pooling our nuclear expertise in one company, we expect to build an organization that will consistently excel in the field of nuclear operations and offer greater opportunity for the professionals involved in this specialized work."

Formation of Southern Nuclear Operating Company is subject to approval by the Securities and Exchange Commission. When that regulatory approval is granted, a management group for the new firm will be named and a site for administrative offices will be selected.

Addison noted that a transition plan has been developed to ensure that the move to the new organization will be accomplished in a controlled, orderly fashion.

"For the foreseeable future, Alabama Power and Georgia Power will retain the operating licenses for our system's nuclear facilities," he explained.

"Ultimately, however, Southern Nuclear Operating Company could become the licensed operator for the plants -- carrying out all responsibilities related to nuclear power operations under contracts with Alabama Power and Georgia Power."

"Our system has invested $6.5 billion to generate electricity through nuclear power," Addison continued.

"With one organization in place to manage those assets, we will better ensure the consistent performance that our customers and stockholders expect. For example, a lesson learned at any one facility will be immediately shared with all other units we operate. And I believe that, in the long term, a single, consolidated nuclear operation will allow us to better monitor and control our costs."

Addison pointed out that Alabama Power and Georgia Power will retain their current ownership of the Farley, Hatch, and Vogtle plants. The expense of owning and operating those facilities will remain subject to regulation by the respective state public service commissions in Alabama and Georgia.

This action, Addison said, is the result of a year-long study of nuclear operations in the Southern electric system and trends in the nation's nuclear power industry.

MISSISSIPPI MEDICAL WEIGHT LOSS CENTERS HAVE BEEN IN OPERATION SINCE JULY 1986, HELPING MISSISSIPPIANS TO LOSE WEIGHT THE FAST AND SAFE WAY. MISSISSIPPI MEDICAL WEIGHT LOSS CENTERS ARE PROUD TO HAVE 4 CONVENIENT LOCATIONS - WHICH IS MORE THAN ANY OTHER WEIGHT LOSS COMPANY ON THE GULF COAST.

MISSISSIPPI MEDICAL WEIGHT LOSS CENTERS have a staff of trained doctors, nurses and counselors who are always supporting, encouraging and motivating their patients the entire time of their weight loss programs. Most people's weight problems are related to their eating habits due to poor nutritional knowledge, stress, moods and low self-esteem. We at MISSISSIPPI MEDICAL WEIGHT LOSS CENTERS realize this and we can help you to lose that weight and teach you new eating habits to keep that weight off once you have lost it. Being overweight is NOT just an image problem; it is very much a health program. Fat doesn't just store on your waist, abdomen, hips and thighs; it also stores around your internal organs—especially, your HEART. Don't wait until you become hypertensive or have a heart attack to realize the importance of losing weight for your HEALTH AND LIFE. We have numerous patients that have High Blood Pressure, High Cholesterol and High Triglyceride levels upon enrolling in our weight loss programs; however, in just a few weeks on our diets, those levels go down to normal range.

So, if you are ready to LOOK GOOD, FEEL GOOD, BE HAPPY and HEALTHY, then give us a call for your FREE, NO-OBLIGATION CONSULTATION.

Veterans Administration to become 14th Cabinet

WASHINGTON— Legislation that will upgrade the Veterans Administration to a Cabinet-level department cleared its final major hurdle with a favorable 84-11 Senate vote. The House overwhelmingly approved similar legislation in November, and a conference on the two versions is not expected to take long. President Reagan has endorsed the change. "Needless to say, we are pleased and breathing a sigh of relief," said Rep. G. V. "Sonny" Montgomery (D-MS) who, along with Congressman Gerald Solomon (R-NY) and Jack Brooks (D-TX), has led the House effort to upgrade the VA.

Montgomery said that there had been concern about the amount of time that had passed since House approval. He added that he was very pleased that efforts to attach judicial review riders to the upgrade bill were unsuccessful.

Montgomery expressed optimism for a quick resolution of the differences in the two upgrade bills, particularly in view of the leadership and strong support for veterans provided by Rep. Brooks and Rep. Frank Horton (R-NY), the Chairman and Ranking Minority Member of the Government Operations Committee, from which the House bill was reported. "There is ample justification for this long-overdue action," said Montgomery, who noted that the present veteran population of 27.5 million is almost six times the 4.7 million veterans living in America in 1930, the VA's founding year.

Altogether, 79.3 million persons—veterans, dependents and survivors of deceased veterans—are potentially eligible for VA benefits and services. This is almost one-third of the nation's population.

The VA has an annual budget nearing $29 billion, the largest health care delivery system in the free world, one of the largest life insurance programs in the world, one of the federal government's major home loan guaranty programs, and an employee total second only to the Department of Defense.

"The VA mission involves a broad cross section of Americans, greatly affects the American economy, and represents a wide variety of domestic programs. Considering the size of the agency and its constituency, considering the significance of its responsibilities and accomplishments, and considering its role in serving all Americans this change is wholly warranted," said Montgomery.

RECOGNITION FOR SERVICE— Doug and Mary Parker, 4-H adult volunteer leaders in Hancock County, are presented a one-year service pin and certificate by Dr. Jean Crane, District 4-H program leader with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. The Parkers were recognized during a recent state meeting of Mississippi 4-H Adult Volunteer Association at Mississippi State University. They are residents of Bay St. Louis and adult leaders of the Hard Luck 4-H Club.

New penalties in effect for handicap zone parking

JACKSON—According to a new law which became effective July 1, Mississippians who unlawfully park in areas designated for the mobility impaired or handicapped could have their driver's license suspended.

The new law, passed by the 1988 Regular Session of the Legislature, authorizes all law enforcement officers to cite violators who park illegally in handicapped areas. The law also prescribes penalties for subsequent violations including the suspension of the offender's driver's license.

"For the first and second convictions the violator will be charged with a misdemeanor and fined up to $100," said Capt. Bruce Breland, director of the Mississippi Highway Patrol's Administrative Division of the Driver Services Bureau.

"For the third and subsequent offenses under the new law, the offender's driver's license will be suspended for 90 days, if they are convicted and the court reports the convictions to the Department of Public Safety," said Breland.

Breland said that out of consideration to the handicapped citizens of this state and to stay in accordance with the law, those persons who are not handicapped should not park in places designed for those who are.

In order to obtain these special parking privileges all handicapped persons must have a special license plate decal and parking certificate.

These may be obtained through the county tax collector's office of the person's county of residence upon the presentation of an affidavit, with a physician's signature, stating the applicant's handicap.

The applicant must also show proof of ownership of the motor vehicle to which the decal and parking certificate will be affixed.

LEADERSHIP STUDY

HATTIESBURG—Rebecca Anne Smith and Danielle Gobert, both of Bay St. Louis, completed the Leadership I course during the fifth annual Leadership Studies program in June, sponsored by the University of Southern Mississippi Center for Gifted Studies.

Selected sixth- through twelfth-grade students attending the program from across Mississippi and as far away as Alaska participated in leadership simulation exercises, problem solving, decision making, group decisions and written and spoken communication tasks. Each participant also planned an event that he is expected to lead and carry out during the year.

the way people treated her when she returned to Hancock County.

"I have noticed that many more of the people I talk to ask me about politics and my opinions. In Mississippi, that's a very unusual question for a woman to be asked," she explained, pointing out that although she has been serving as chair of the Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee, she was not taken as seriously from a political standpoint as she has been since her return from Atlanta.

While Bourg stayed at the convention at Atlanta's Omni, often perched on top of her chair in order to be able to see speakers, Frankiewicz attended a luncheon for about 200 mayors from various cities where the need for cooperation between private business and public good was discussed and a meeting sponsored by National League of Cities where representatives of the Gallup Poll and Times-Mirror Corporations discussed how the old conservative and liberal political labels no longer apply today.

The mayor said he found a number of problems Bay St. Louis shares with other cities, particularly those resulting from the federal government's shift of more responsibility to local governments while taking away more money through funding cuts, taxes on items such as gasoline that municipalities have never had to pay before and reduction of the amounts of revenue being returned to cities.

The federal government has also become much more strict regarding regulations on water quality, sewerage and wastewater standards and landfills. Frankiewicz said that while Dukakis has declared getting the budget under control as his first priority, he will help cities with those problems.

Dukakis handled a major deficit in Massachusetts by cutting services and restructuring taxes. "He has been criticized for his methods but he is actually taking action and not just talking," Frankiewicz said.

"Aside from basic competence in political positions, I have found that he is fundamentally, ethically and morally dedicated to public service. I think he'll bring a new standard of dignity to public service."

Broadway, McDonald top Hancock County returns

BY DENA BISNETTE
State Senator Ronnie Shows of Bassfield and Lucedale Judge Sidney Barnett will compete in a run-off election for Southern District highway commissioner Aug. 6.

Shows received about 23,920 votes and Barnett received about 15,465.

In Hancock County, the favorite candidate was Buddy S. Broadway of Picayune. Broadway, who received a total of 553 votes according to the Hancock County Election Commission's official count, is a civil engineer with Broadway Engineers and Land Surveyors. He worked with the State Highway Department from 1958 to 1962 and was engineer for the city of Picayune from 1962 to 1966.

Billy McDonald of Pass Christian, Beat Three supervisor in Harrison County before he resigned last year to run against former Southern District Highway Commissioner Bob Joiner, placed second in Hancock County with 409 votes.

Barnett came in third in Hancock County, with 359 votes, followed by Bay St. Louis resident Burton D. "Fip" Johnson, a retired contractor and former deputy sheriff and Bay St. Louis building inspector, with 189 votes.

In fifth place in Hancock County was Shows, who received 156 votes.

Candidates trailing with less than 100 votes each included

William F. "Bill" Appleton with 84 votes, Haskel "Pat" Patterson with 47, A. Wellington Gibbs with 33 and George Touart with 32.

Governor Ray Mabus had called the special election on Saturday in an attempt to increase voter turnout. According to Charles Gottschalk of the Hancock County Election Commission, the attempt was not successful in Hancock County, where participation was less than 10 percent.

ASCS Reports

Measurement Service

Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Pearl River-Hancock County ASCS Office, suggests that farm program participants take advantage of producer services to obtain accurate acreage measurements and take the guess work out of crop reporting.

"Measurement service is not only valuable to farm program participants but to any farmers who desire an accurate acreage for any reason," Gennin said.

With measurement service, he said producers can have their planted crops measured before certifying acres. The service also includes measurement of acreage conservation reserve (ACR) land, fields or subdivisions, total cropland and areas for other purposes.

To be eligible for full program benefits, producers are required to certify with ASCS, crops and acrages planted, the uses to be made of these crops, and cropland acres to be devoted to the ACR. The information is then recorded and serves as documentation for program compliance and crop acreage bases.

Gennin said measurement service gives farmers the assurance of knowing that they are in compliance with the acreage reduction programs, and eliminates the worry over loss of program benefits.

The ASCS official said producer services are guaranteed for the program year in which they are taken. Fees vary, based on the type of service rendered.

Acreage Reports
"Farmers who have planted corn, grain sorghum, rice, peanuts, soybeans, and watermelons are reminded that now is the time to report the sizes and intended uses of their 1988 program crops," Gennin said.

Crop certification is necessary before the farmer can receive deficiency payments, price support loans and other farm program benefits.

Producers participating in this year's acreage reduction programs are required to report crops and acrages planted, the uses to be made of these crops, cropland acres to be devoted to the acreage conservation reserve and acres diverted for payment. Gennin said that growers not participating in the programs should report their acrages to insure future benefits and protect acreage bases.

"After certificate, we will select farms at random to verify that acreage reports are accurate. Aerial photographs are available for farmers to identify their fields," Gennin said.

He said certification is particularly important to producers of quota crops such as tobacco and peanuts. In addition to these crops, however, all other crop acreage must be reported.

Acreage reports may be filed Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., at the local ASCS office. Pearl River-Hancock County producers are encouraged to certify crops as soon as possible.

Weather-damaged Crops

Before destroying weather-damaged crops, Gennin reminds farm program participants to notify ASCS and obtain failed acreage credit for future crop acreage bases.

"Evidence of the failed acreage must be present when the area is inspected for this purpose," Gennin said.

Farmers are currently filing acreage reports with ASCS to qualify for 1988 farm program benefits. Gennin said the reports are necessary to determine program compliance and to document acrages for crop history purposes.

To assist producers with acreage reports, ASCS offers measurement service for a moderate fee. Farmers can request measurement of planted crops, acreage conservation reserve land, fields or subdivisions, total cropland and land areas for other purposes, the ASCS official said.

Farmers in compliance with the 1988 acreage reduction programs are eligible for price support loans, deficiency payments and other farm program benefits.

Bernard, Marsh and Wilkinson in Little Theater production

Under the direction of Eddie Galey, Gulfport Little Theater will present "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" and "Gross Encounters of the Worst Kind," Friday, Aug. 29 through Sunday, Aug. 31 at the Deborah Place Playhouse, (directly behind Lyle's Carpet Mart on Old Pass Road in Gulfport).

Both productions are double cast, featuring young people five to 18 years of age from along the Gulf Coast.

Included in the cast of "Tom Sawyer" are Casey Lynn Bernard, Tommy Marsh and Tabitha Wilkinson.

Casey, the daughter of Marie and Milton Bernard of Waveland, will portray Becky Thatcher on Friday night and Saturday afternoon, while Tabitha, daughter of Traci and Aaron Wilkinson, also of Waveland, will portray Becky Thatcher on Saturday night and Sunday afternoon.

On Friday night and Saturday afternoon, the part of Joe Harper, Tom's best friend, will be played by Tommy Marsh, son of Mr. John (Lisa) Robertson of Bay St. Louis and Tommy Marsh Sr. of Waveland.

Performances are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, with Saturday and Sunday matinees at 2 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door, $4 adults, $2 children.

KORP prepares for 1989 Mardi Gras festivities

The Krewe of Real People is accepting applications for king and queen of its 1989 Mardi Gras parade scheduled for Feb. 7, 1989.

Selection of the krewe's king and queen is based on candidates' winning fund-raising efforts.

A meeting has been set for Monday, Aug. 1 at the Valena C. Jones Cafeteria at 7 p.m.

Vido tapes and photographs of last year's Mardi Gras will be shown.

"We would also like our last year's steering committee to join us at this meeting," said Charles Johnson, krewe co-captain.

Summertime's truly salad time in our Southland, with our hot weather and the abundance of said 'fixings' to tempt heat-headed appetites, don't you agree?

Supper is often a salad of one sort or another at my house in the summer, and I must admit that I often come up with some rather off-beat combinations, but tasty ones, I hasten to add.

And, just at this time, I'm enjoying a number of delicious salads, in great variety. Thanks to a delightful book, 'Seasonal Salads From Around the World' by David Scott and Paddy Byrne (Garden Way Publishing, Pownall, Vt., soft-cover, $6.95).

The book is an interesting mixture, or fusion, of culinary ideas and suggestions from Europe, America, the Middle East, Japan, Indonesia and other parts of the world.

Originally published for the British market, but influenced by the authors' travels, this New American Edition brings us page after page of ideas for adventurous palates, along with the traditional ones.

The recipes should delight vegetarians, but can also be used in conjunction with meat, fish and poultry dishes. In addition to the recipes, the book contains expert advice on salad dressings and kitchen equipment, as well as an availability chart season-by-season and tips on growing your salad makings as well.

Pointing out that vegetables in their proper season "taste better, do more good and cost less," the authors add that this collection of salads "contribute to a healthful, high fiber, low-fat diet."

And what a collection it is: Spring Salads of baby turnips or artichokes or tiny new potatoes with parsley vinaigrette, for example. And, for a Summer Salad, how about green beans and fresh sweet corn with tomato mayonnaise, or tomatoes and sweet Vidalia onions from Georgia, or melons and peaches and such?

And, when Autumn comes, and local tomato crops dwindle, make the most of them, or make a celery and apple salad, for instance. Winter Salads send us to the pantry shelf, to mix pasta and dried beans, to use potatoes and onions and such.

My favorite, I suppose, in the book, uses tomatoes, ripe and green, in:

Tomatoes in Hot Green Tomato Sauce
(When there's a surplus of green or partly green tomatoes, especially at the beginning or end of the local growing season, they often go to waste, as the authors observe, because we're conditioned to eat tomatoes only when they are red—and you miss a lot of flavor. So, try this recipe for the 'best of both worlds'.)

6 medium-sized ripe

tomatoes
2 green onions
1 medium green or partially green tomato
1 Tblsp. fresh, coarsely chopped parsley
1 Tblsp. cottage cheese
1 clove garlic
2 small fresh or dried red chili peppers or ¼ tsp. chili sauce, salt and black pepper to taste.

Quarter the ripe tomatoes and set them aside. Wash and trim the onions, chop roughly, and place in a blender or food processor. Quarter the green tomato and add that, along with the remaining ingredients, to the blender.

Blend for a few seconds at high speed. Test and adjust the seasoning. Pour the dressing over the reserved quartered ripe tomatoes, and mix well.

HEALTH CARE

The U.S. spends more on health care per person than any other nation in the world does—but 37 million people without health insurance cannot get basic medical care.

The way America "rations" care is the subject of the documentary "Who Lives, Who Dies" at 10 p.m., Wednesday, August 3, on Mississippi ETV.

Narrated by actor James Earl Jones, the one-hour special looks at the difficult choices posed by advanced medical procedures—such as organ transplants—that cannot be offered to everyone in need.

Compretta named to council of State Governments Committee

State Representative J. P. Compretta of Bay St. Louis has been named to the national Committee on Suggested State Legislation of The Council of State Governments, representing the Southern Legislative Conference.

The special SLC/CSG committee consists of state legislators, legislative staff members, and other governmental officials from the 50 states and other U.S. jurisdictions. Among the main responsibilities of the committee is to select material to include in the annual volume of Suggested State Legislation published by The Council of State Governments, including a broad range of topics of governmental interest.

"Being selected to serve on this important committee will provide a unique opportunity to discuss common problems and issues with legislative leaders from other states and exchange ideas on ways to deal with these problems. It is an honor to be named to the Committee on Suggested State Legislation," said Compretta, who represents District 122 in Hancock County.

The Council of State Governments was founded in 1933 as a joint nonprofit service agency of all the state governments. The Council provides resources, identifies trends, supplies answers and provides a network of factual information for state policymakers.

Compretta pointed out that the Southern Legislative Conference, headquartered in Atlanta, is one of four regional legislative conferences within the national Council of State Governments. The SLC was established in 1947 to encourage intergovernmental cooperation among Southern state legislators from 15 states and Puerto Rico.

The SLC is scheduled to hold its 42nd annual meeting in August in Lexington, Ky.

Some of the many issues with which the Committee on Suggested Legislation has been concerned include health care, consumer protection, education, agriculture, hazardous materials and waste, criminal justice, drug abuse, and transportation.

The proposals selected by the Committee to be included in the CSG's annual publication are to assist state legislators who may be interested in drafting bills in a specific area and to serve as a source of innovative ideas.

SPORTS FROM THE PRESSBOX

by Jim Fuller

The NBA may have to change its name if it continues to import foreign players.

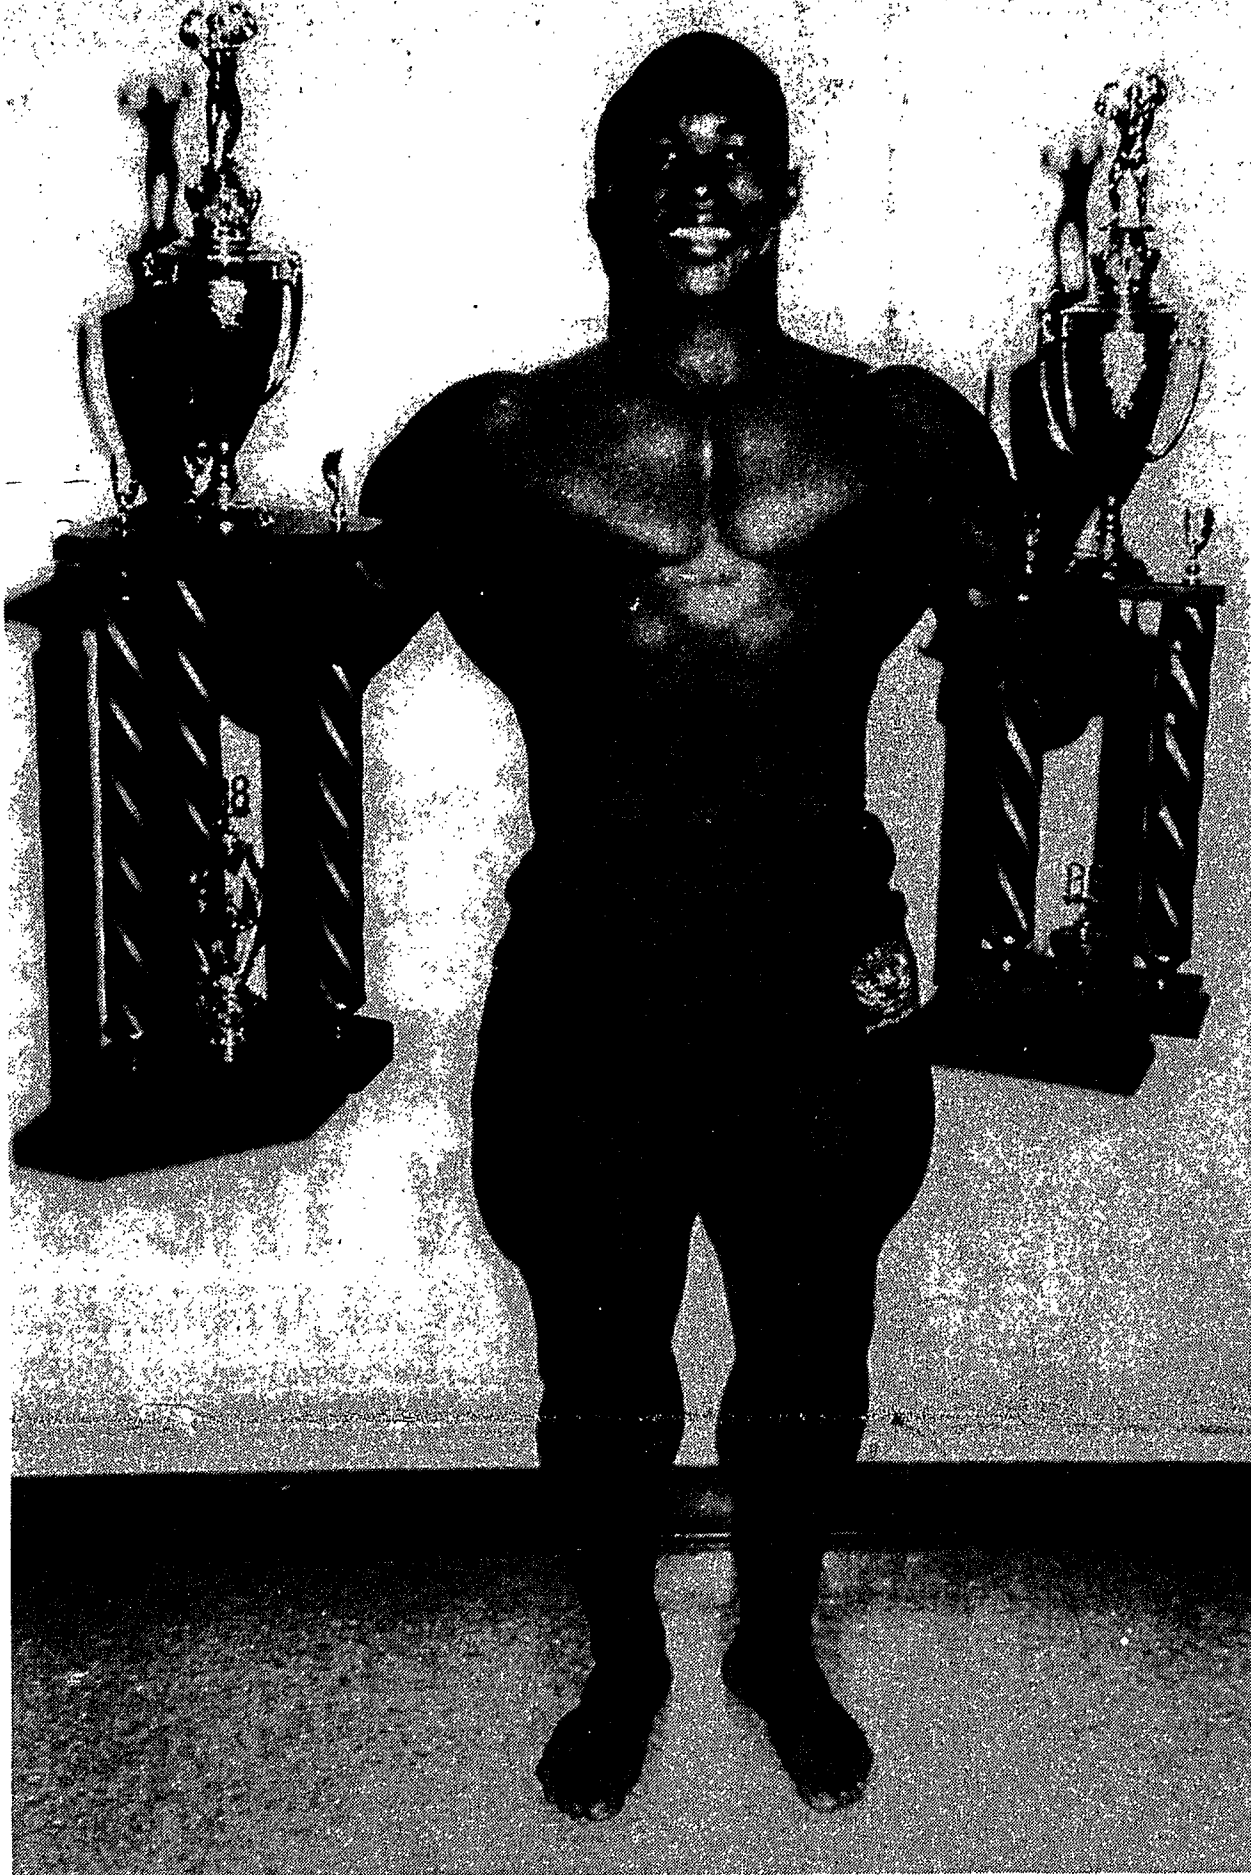

The Portland Trailblazers are relentlessly pursuing Arvidas Sabonis, a first round pick by the team in the 1986 draft. Sabonis towers over seven feet and weighs close to 300 pounds. He was considered the finest amateur player in the world before foot injuries slowed him down. The Blazers brought Sabonis to the U.S. to give him treatments — something that has rattled the cage of U.S. Olympic basketball coach John Thompson, as Sabonis and his Soviet teammates are the biggest obstacle in the U.S. team's path for the gold medal.

While Portland looks forward to future help from foreign players, Dallas and Houston are getting good results immediately. Detlef Schrempf has emerged as one of the best all-around players in the NBA for the Mavericks and has the ability to play all five positions on the floor.

He played for West Germany in the 1984 Olympics, but received his basketball schooling at the University of Washington. Another West German and Husky product is Uwe Blab, Schrempf's Dallas teammate. The best foreigner, however, is Akeem Olajuwon, an All-Star center for Houston by way of Nigeria and the University of Houston. The tallest foreigner is seven-foot, seven-inch-tall Manute Bol, who was recently traded by Washington to Golden State.

Dwight Gooden has come back with a passion to reestablish his position as the top pitcher in baseball. Gooden missed the early part of last year while recovering from a drug addiction, and spent the rest of the year answering questions about it. But in 1988 the major topic with Gooden is pitching, and winning.

MR. MISSISSIPPI—Charles Hawkins, 23, of Waveland won the heavyweight and overall open-divisions of the Amateur Athletic Union-sanctioned Mr. Mississippi Body Building Championship July 23 in Jackson. He will compete in the National Championships in Atlanta September 23. Winners in Atlanta will qualify for Mr. World competition. Hawkins says, unlike many body builders, he uses no drugs to aid him in developing his muscles. In response to his victory, Hawkins, a minister at The Church of Power House of Deliverance in Bay St. Louis, quoted Psalm 98:1, "O sing unto the Lord a new song for He hath done marvelous things. His right hand, and holy arm hath gotten me the victory." (Echo staff photo by D.C. Harvill)

CAMP AWARD—Micah Necaise of Bay St. Louis earned a Defensive Award at the 1988 University of Mississippi Basketball Camp. Young athletes studied shooting, ball-handling, defense and other basketball fundamentals. The camp was coordinated by the University's Division of Continuing Education.

Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant outlines 88-89 program

The Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant is now accepting applications for the 1988-89 deer season.

Archery-only deer hunting permits will be issued to all qualified applicants.

The season opens on Oct. 1, 1988 and runs through Jan. 18, 1989.

Hunters must check in and check out and hunting is restricted to specified dates and times.

Applications and information sheets may be obtained by sending a legal size, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Mason Chamberlain Inc., Building 9110, Attn: Security Department, Stennis Space Center, MS 39529-7099.

Applications are also available at the following locations: Don's Sports World, Picayune; Quick and Grice, Picayune; and Sports Unlimited, Gulfport. Completed applications must be post-marked by Sept. 1, 1988, or hand-delivered to Building T8302, Security Department by 3:30 p.m., Sept. 2, 1988.

INFORMATION SHEET MISSISSIPPI ARMY AMMUNITION PLANT 1988-89 ARCHERY-ONLY DEER SEASON

The following information has been prepared regarding the 1988-89 hunting season at the MSAAP. The archery-only season will open on Saturday, Oct. 1, 1988, and extend through Jan. 18, 1989.

Although some of the actual hunting policies have been modified, most of the basic rules and regulations will remain the same.

Days scheduled for hunting are Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and all day hunts on Saturday.

Beginning in late December, hunts will also be scheduled for most holidays and Sundays.

Ban repealed on netting in Alabama waters

Gulf waters of Alabama were closed on May 20 after Florida and federal waters off Alabama were closed to conserve Spanish Mackerel.

This ban was repealed on July 18 by Commissioner James D. Martin.

The regulations in Gulf waters of Alabama still in effect are that all gill and trammel nets mesh be no smaller than 3 1/4 inches stretched and no gill or trammel nets shall be used within 150 yards of the Gulf beaches until after Labor Day. All nets must be licensed and constantly attended.

Hancock Bank team takes AAU tourney

POPLARVILLE—Hancock Bank's AAU basketball team, made up of players from Gulfport High School, won the AAU Junior Olympic tournament held at Pearl River Community College July 14-15.

Hancock beat the Vancleave High Hoopsters 75-74 in the championship game to win the tournament, which included nine area high school teams.

Bush Construction Company, featuring players from Pearl River Central, won the consolation bracket with a 74-63 victory over First National Bank, which was made up of Picayune High players.

Other teams competing in the tournament were Bay St. Louis, Hancock North Central, Poplarville, St. Stanislaus and Louisiana's Pearl River High.

Ole Miss football season tickets remain on sale

UNIVERSITY, Miss.— Previous season ticket holders to Ole Miss football games have two weeks to reapply and have the same priority for seating, announced Ticket Manager Virginia Hall.

"We will start placing seat assignments in about two weeks," said Hall. "Any previous season ticket holder not getting their application back to us in that time risks the chance of not having their same seat again for this season."

Plenty of season and individual game tickets remain on sale. The 1988 season ticket package includes six games, three at Mississippi Veterans Memorial Stadium in Jackson and three at Vaught-Hemingway Stadium in Oxford.

The 1988 season kicks off Sept. 3 in Jackson with a 6 p.m. start against Memphis State.

The season ticket package is available for $90 while home single game tickets are available at $15 each. Tickets for Ole Miss road games are also available at the Ole Miss ticket office.

For more information regarding tickets, write the Ole Miss Ticket Office, Box 247, University, MS 39677, or call (601) 232-7167.

All-State Necaise to bolster PRC defense

POPLARVILLE—East and West. Night and day. Hot and cold.

Somehow, the 1987 and '88 Pearl River Community College football seasons seem to fit right into that list.

Last season PRC's squad was loaded with experience and featured an offense that would average almost 30 points per game, while this year the Wildcats are returning only 17 lettermen, and will have to rely on a stout defense to give the offense time to mature.

"We're going to be awfully young this year," Mike Nelson, fourth-year head coach, said. "We're going to be a predomantly freshman unit."

However, the group's lack of experience should be somewhat offset by the talent of incoming players, Nelson said. "We've got a lot of outstanding athletes coming in."

Among those new faces will be Frank Denard, a 285-pound defensive tackle from Hattiesburg High School and captain on the Mississippi all-state team, Rovey Jones, a 6-1 235-pound linebacker transferring from Jackson State, and Will Russell, a defensive end who had committed to Alcorn.

Most of the returning talent also lies on the defensive side of the ball, including all-state outside linebacker Greg Necaise, defensive end Jerry Geathers, defensive end Anthony Bowie and strong safety Chris Bates.

"Our defense is going to have to carry us early in the season," until the offense comes around, Nelson said.

The offense will not be totally weaponless, however.

Quarterback Chris Collins and Scott Nease will return to the squad this season, along with running back Roland Johnson, who was the second leading rusher for the Wildcats last season with 760 yards.

The Cats will not get much help from the schedule, Nelson said, starting off with Itawamba at home Sept. 3 and Hinds on the road the following week.

"We're going to find out what we're made of in a hurry," Nelson said.

"I thought our schedule was ideal last year," he said.

Despite scheduling advantages and high expectations, the Wildcats, who some felt had a chance at the state title, finished at 5-5.

"We were disappointed in last year's record," Nelson said. And last year's results are one thing he would like to see different this year.

Two appointed to Wildlife Commission

JACKSON—Gov. Ray Mabus has appointed Mike Goff of Jackson and Dr. Henry Hillman of Ocean Springs to serve on the five-member Commission on Wildlife Conservation.

Goff, 33, is executive director of the Mississippi Wildlife Federation. Before that he was involved in Federation affairs for six years as a member of their board of directors.

A forester, Goff is an avid hunter and fisherman and has been since age five. "Being already deeply involved in the wildlife resources of Mississippi, I look forward to being more involved by serving on this commission," Goff said.

Ocean Springs physician Dr. Henry Hillman, 36, replaces former commissioner Joseph Gex of Bay St. Louis, whose five-year term expired June 30.

A big-game hunter, Hillman says he is devoted to conserving Mississippi's wildlife resources so future generations can continue to enjoy wildlife.

"I intend to listen to the advice of our biologists and our conservation officers and to develop some sound wildlife policies," Hillman said.

At a recent meeting of the Commission in Jackson, Oxford attorney S.T. Rayburn was elected to his second term as chairman of the board, and Champ Terney of Indianola was elected vice-chairman.

"Serving on the Commission on Wildlife Conservation has been one of the gratifying experiences of my life. I've always been committed to the conservation and management of our wildlife resources, and it is a great pleasure to serve on a board with four other commissioners just as dedicated as I

THURSDAY, JULY, 28, 1988-1C

Pass High Senior honorees named

JOE GEX of Bay St. Louis this week joined approximately 350 outstanding high school graduates from across the country at a Washington D.C. National Young Leaders Conference. He has been selected as a Congressional Scholar based on demonstrated academic achievement, leadership, and citizenship. Theme of the National Young Leaders Conference is "The Leaders of Tomorrow Meeting the Leaders of Today." Throughout the six day Conference, the Congressional Scholars will meet with key leaders and newsmakers from the three branches of government, the media, and the diplomatic corps.

The 1988 Senior Awards Day at Pass Christian High School recently in the school auditorium included processional by the band under the direction of Miss Rebecca Peevy, invocation by Father Randall Woods, and the singing of 'My Country 'Tis of Thee' led by LaSonya Bowser.

Adrian J. Swanier, principal, welcomed parents and guests. Tributes to the class of 1988 were given by LeRoy Lizana, superintendent of Pass Christian Public Schools.

Miss Linda Lightsey read 'Verbs to Live By' from the faculty.

'A Wish' from the student body was given by Ms. Candice Pavolini, followed by the 'Appalachian Hymn' by Foster, played by the band.

Comments and presentations were offered by Senior Class officers Quentin Conway, president; Krissy Wittmann, vice president; Lisa Bradley, secretary, and Pam Ladner, treasurer.

Beta Club sponsor, Miss Linda Lightsey, presented the Beta stoles to graduating Senior Beta Club members including Kathleen Bailey, Vicki Bishop, Aubrey Brickey, Richelle Cook, Jeffery Glenn, Dy'Etra Hall, Dale Isabelle, Pam Ladner, Yolanda Ladner, Kim Tran, Van Tran and Leslie Zanders.

Mr. Stephen Handley, assistant principal, presented the DAR Good Citizenship Award to Krissy Wittmann.

Ms. Debbie Benefield of the Gulfport Exchange Club presented plaques to Pass Christian High School's Youths of the Month who were Kim Tran and Dy'Etra Hall.

Yolanda Ladner and Horace Lizana Jr. received the Army Reserve National Scholar/Athlete Award presented by Sgt. David Wilson.

Awards were then presented to seniors who maintained the highest scholastic average during their four years of high school.

Those receiving awards were: Business Education, Yolanda Ladner; English, Dale Isabelle; Foreign Language, Kathleen Bailey; Home Economics, Kim Ladner; Math, Pam Lander; Science, Kim Tran; Social Studies, Dale Isabelle.

Tasha Cuevas received the Most Athletic Award.

Kim Bourdin received the Vo-Tech Award and Aubrey Brickey received the American High School mathematics Award.

Mr. Swanier then presented the following special recognition awards:

Honor Cords to Vicki Bishop, Aubrey Brickey, Richelle Cook, Jeffery Glenn, Dy'Etra Hall, Dale Isabelle, Pam Ladner, Yolanda Ladner, Kim Tran, Van Tran, and Leslie Zanders.

Outstanding Attendance recognition went to Yolanda Ladner and Richelle Cook; Leslie Zanders received a plaque for perfect attendance over the four years of high school.

The Keesler Pacesetter Award, The Century III Leadership Award and The Principal's Leadership Award went to Dy'Etra Hall.

recipient of the Star Student Award and recognized Mr. Andrew Lagarde as his Star Teacher.

Kimberly Ladner received the Citizenship Award and Pam Ladner the Best All Around Award.

Area teacher to serve as regional judge

The National Council of Teachers of English reports appointment of Kay Lovelace of Hancock North Central High School as regional judge for the 1988 NCTE Achievement Awards in Writing.

Through this nationally recognized competition, now in its 31st year, approximately 800 high school seniors are cited for excellence in writing and are recommended to colleges and universities for admission and for financial aid, if needed.

Over 6,000 students have been nominated for Achievement Awards in 1988. Results of the contest are to be announced in October.

Students are nominated for Achievement Awards in Writing by their high school English departments and are chosen for recognition by state funding committees.

Each nominee submits a prompt theme and a sample of his or her best writing to be judged.

The regional judging committees are composed of both high school and college teachers who work under the direction of state coordinators.

The National Council of Teachers of English is made up of more than 90,000 individual teachers and institutional members at all levels of instruction, from elementary school through graduate college.

Its goal is more effective teaching of English language and literature in the nation's schools and colleges. NCTE publishes journals, books, and recordings to aid teachers in the classroom and in their professional development.

The two 1,350 foot towers of the World Trade Center in New York City occupy only two acres, but can accommodate 130,000 people.

Wicktom selected for Coast Guard Academy camp

The Eighth District Coast Guard Auxiliary has chosen Barry Wicktom, senior at Hancock North Central, as their representative at a Coast Guard Academy summer camp. Flotilla 33 of Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Diamondhead submitted Wicktom's application to Division III, who in turn sent it to District 8 Headquarters where he competed with students from Florida to New Mexico.

He will be one of 200 young Americans from all over the United States who will merge at the Coast Guard Academy in New London, Conn. the first week of August.

Since Wicktom ranked number one for the Eighth District, all his expenses will be paid.

This camp gives each participant the experiences of a plebe for one week.

He will have the opportunity to be "military" and, hopefully, apply to the Academy for college.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wicktom of Fenton, he will be the president of the Hancock North Central Student Council for the 1988-89 school year.

He is a member of the HNC Football Team and the Beta Club.

Among his honors are "Boy's State" which he attended in June, and "Governor's School," June 12-July 2.

Mrs. Lois Abrams, Flotilla Career Candidate Officer for Flotilla 33, recruited Wicktom.

PR post filled at Pearl River College

POPLARVILLE—James Stewart, a recent graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi, has joined the Pearl River Community College administrative staff as assistant director of public relations.

In addition to assisting Larry Stanford, PRC's director of public relations, Stewart will also serve as the faculty advisor for the student newspaper, the 'Dixie Drawl,' the school's yearbook, the 'Wildcat,' and The River Navigators, the school's student recruiting group.

A Louisiana native, Stewart served as a part-time speech instructor at PRC this past spring while he completed course requirements for a master of science degree in communications at USM.

Students entering UM attend orientation

UNIVERSITY—Two Bay St. Louis residents who will be attending The University of Mississippi this fall recently attended the third of this summer's five counseling and pre-registration conferences at Ole Miss.

The sessions for high school graduates, transfer students or students entering as adult learners included testing sessions to determine career interests, orientational and instructional meetings, test interpretation, individual counseling and preparation of a class schedule for fall semester, academic advising and pre-registration.

The Bay St. Louis residents attending the session sponsored by the Ole Miss Student Counseling Center included Scott Maness and Paul Montjoy.

YEARBOOK CLINIC—Two Our Lady Academy students attended The University of Mississippi's Summer Yearbook Clinic on June 21-24. They were Renee Schaefer of Bay St. Louis and Kimberly Trowbridge of Pass Christian.

Instruction was provided by representatives from Taylor Publishing Co. in approaches to writing, editing and layout, financial and business problems, photography and artwork, typography, scheduling production and staff organization. The clinic was coordinated by the Center for Public Service and Continuing Studies.

CREATIVE WRITERS AWARDS—Pearl River Community College has recognized its outstanding creative writers at the annual awards assembly here on campus. From left are Lamont Pearson of Picayune, first place short fiction; Beatrice Savelle of Carriere, second place short fiction; Barbara Mizell of Poplarville, first place essay; John Padgett of Picayune, first place drama; Clinton Kirby of Picayune, first place poetry; Linda Carver of Bay St. Louis, who placed in short fiction and poetry; and Geneann Hill of Poplarville, English Department Award.

BARRY WICKTOM

Financing secured for PRC technology center

POPLARVILLE—First Tennessee Bank National Association's low bid of 7.444112 percent annual net interest rate for $1 million in Series 1988 Building Notes was accepted here Tuesday by the Pearl River College Board of Trustees.

The million dollars will be used to match state and federal funds for the construction of a 50,000 square-foot technology center on the Poplarville campus.

The Pearl River County Board of Supervisors had agreed in April to finance half of the $2 million project, which is expected to pump about $400,000 in retail sales into the county's economy and bring in several jobs and 300 more students to the campus.

The supervisors agreement was to repay the debt up to $145,000 per year, over a 15-year period. With the rate from First Tennessee Bank, the repayment on the indebtedness should be considerably less at about $110,000 per year.

"I think the Pearl River County Supervisors will be pleased to hear that the yearly repayment is much less than anticipated or planned for," said Dr. Alexander.

"Again, we are very grateful for their assistance in making the technology center a reality." The only other bidder was Duncan-Williams Inc. of Memphis. That company's overall interest rate was 7.490963.

Another $1.5 million in building notes will be issued for an Allied Health Center planned for the PRC Forrest County Center in Hattiesburg.

Bonding attorneys Watkins, Ludlam and Stennis were designated bond counsel.

In other action, the PRC board:

—Approved an out-of-state tuition increase as required by state law, section 37-103-25, retroactive to July 1, 1988.

—Approved second and final payment to B. & H. Oilfield Contractors in the amount of $6,749 for a building relocation project.

—Approved a $6,074 second and final payment to Hub Sheet Metal and Roofing Company Inc. and $122 to architect Fred Wagner for the emergency re-roofing project.

—Approved $27,500 payment to architect Fred Wagner for professional services for the Technology Training Center project.

—Rejected science equipment bid and accepted the lowest and best bid meeting specifications on library furniture, video equipment and band instruments.

—Approved the hiring of Carolyn Sue Meador, operating room technician-JTPA-Forrest

PRC semester costs listed

POPLARVILLE— District students attending Pearl River College this fall will pay $275 for tuition and $30 for books.

If a PRC student lives in one of the six air-conditioned residents halls with a five-day meal ticket the cost is $670 per semester. Dormitory students with a seven-day meal ticket will pay $770 per semester.

Commuting students can purchase a noon meal ticket for $170 per semester and ride a PRC commuter bus for $100 per semester.

The total cost for a student living on campus, including room, tuition, books and a five-day meal ticket, is $975 per semester.

Pearl River College participates in six federally funded financial aid programs as well as many state and local financial assistance programs.

Students interested in applying for financial aid to help meet their expenses of attending Pearl River should get an application from the Financial Aid Office located in the Administration Building. The financial aid telephone number is (601) 795-6801 ext. 211.

KRISTIN LING, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Ling of Waveland, recently was graduated magna cum laude and with highest honors in environmental studies from the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga. Miss Ling received a bachelor of science degree in environmental studies with a chemistry concentration. She was a William E. Brock Scholar at UTC and a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Eta Sigma and Golden Key National Honor Societies as well as the Alpha Society. In addition, Miss Ling served as a student representative to the Curriculum Committee and the Student Resident Association. She received the 1988 Outstanding Senior Award in the Environmental Studies Department and the award for the best research paper presented by a female to the Spring 1988 Meeting of the Tennessee Academy of Sciences Collegiate Division. Miss Ling has received an assistantship to attend the University of Georgia in the fall to pursue a master of science degree in the field of water resources. She is currently employed by Sverdrup Technology, Inc. as a summer student in the NASA Environmental Assurance Laboratory located at the John C. Stennis Space Center. Miss Ling is a 1984 graduate of Coast Episcopal High School in Pass Christian.

Student accepts scholarship

GULFPORT—Michelle Marie Beauregard of Bay St. Louis has accepted a freshman honors scholarship, for the 1988-89 academic year, from William Carey College on the Coast in Gulfport. Ms. Beauregard, a native of New Orleans, was awarded the scholarship on the strength of her outstanding scholastic record. She plans to major in pre-medicine this fall.

Ms. Beauregard is a graduate of Holy Name of Mary Grammar School in New Orleans and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Beauregard of Bay St. Louis.

SHORT-TERM

HATTIESBURG—David A. Nears of Bay St. Louis participated in a "Management of the Vo-Tech Learning Environment" short-term summer course June 6-17 at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Offered through USM's Department of Industrial and Vocational Education, the course focused on current methods of vo-tech classroom instruction and examined ways to improve students' learning capabilities through control of the learning environment.

COMPLETES RESIDENCY

Dr. Michael S. Phillips has announced plans to practice ophthalmology in Kingsport, Tenn.

A native of Bay St. Louis, Phillips has completed a residency program in ophthalmology at the Medical University of South Carolina in Charleston.

Phillips graduated from the University of Mississippi in Oxford and received his medical degree from the University of Mississippi Medical Center in Jackson.

Hancock County School System first with new computers

The Hancock County School System is the first in Mississippi to use the Microhost, a smaller, more powerful minicomputer which will drive up to 128 terminals; the first in Mississippi to offer the advanced Audio-Reading course from Computer Curriculum Corporation Palo Alto, California; the first in Mississippi to have the CCC Computer Speech System that has a human-like voice; the first in Mississippi to have a 9600 Baud Modem which allows a remote site to run more than eight terminals.

Hancock County is the first school system to offer a CCC program called "Dial-a-Drill." The computer calls the student by phone at night and gives him a lesson in Math, Reading and Spelling.

The Computer Assisted Instructional Program was devised by Computer Curriculum Corporation, Palo Alto, California. The program arranges items in order of difficulty and includes the domain of materials specified in major textbooks used in the United States. Each ten-minute lesson contains a mixture of different type problems.

The level of difficulty is continuously adjusted upward or downward to the level necessary for each child. Individual or class reports are available upon request.

The CCC Program is Chapter I funded, but according to Terry Randolph, superintendent of Hancock County Schools, the system is striving to provide quality computer assisted education for all grade levels.

USM's 'Last Call for Fall' session set Aug. 1

A 'Last Call for Fall' orientation session is scheduled at the University of Southern Mississippi Monday, Aug. 1, to help prospective students get ready for the upcoming 1988 fall semester.

tion and registration opportunities for incoming students.

Participants may check in beginning at 11 a.m. Aug. 1 in the lobby of the Student Services Building. The cost of the session, which will last until 5 p.m., is $20.

Students must be officially admitted to the university in order to register for fall semester classes. To find out admission requirements, call (601) 266-5555.

YOUTH CAMP—Derek Dedeaux, a Junior at Temple Christian Academy in Gulfport, was one of 53 students who participated in the third Annual Mississippi Association of Conservation Districts, Inc., Soil and Water Conservation Youth Camp during June at Mississippi State University. Dedeaux was selected because of his interest in soil and water conservation and his academic standing in the top 25 percent of his class. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Dedeaux of Highway 53 in northeast Hancock County. Persons interested in next summer's youth camp, may contact the local Soil and Water Conservation District at 255-3225 for more information.

Payment of $39 membership fee entitles a member to local ground ambulance transportation at no direct cost. Ambulance service must be medically necessary, as determined by the provider, and shall include patients who are non-emergency or have a medical condition which requires transport by ambulance. Ground transportation outside of the provider's local service area will be provided at a discounted rate. This membership permits the ambulance company to collect payment for services rendered directly from any insurer or other third party medical benefits provider at no charge to the member. The ambulance company will bill the third party directly, and if a member has no medical benefits coverage for the services rendered, he/she is still entitled to the ambulance services outlined in our brochure. Membership is non-transferable and non-refundable.

MEMORIAL PLAQUE—Prima Wusack, left, Hancock County Library System director, accepts a memorial plaque from officer of the local National Guard NCO Association, including from left, SSG Thomas Chapman, vice-president; PSG Jay LaGasse, secretary/treasurer; and PSG Rainey Paige, president. The plaque will be used to list the names of association members or members of their immediate families when a donation is made to the library in their memory. The donations will be used to purchase a book in memory of the deceased. The 35-member association plans various fund-raisers during the year to maintain the memorial. "We felt this would be a lasting tribute to our members who serve their state through the National Guard," said Rainey. The plaque will hang in the headquarters library on Hwy. 90 in Bay St. Louis.

ST. CLARE PRE-KINDERGARTEN PROGRAM honored its 1988 participants recently at the church in Waveland. PRC reports fall night dates

POPLARVILLE—Pearl River College has released organizational meeting dates for its Fall Night College at the Poplarville campus.

Registration for vocational and technical classes is set for Thursday, Aug. 11 between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. in the director's office of the Vocational-Technical Building. Classes begin Monday, Aug. 15.

Academic Night College for the Poplarville campus is set for Wednesday, Aug. 24 at 6:30 p.m. in Room 108 of the Science Building.

Proposed vocational classes include auto mechanics, electricity, heating/air-conditioning, machine shop, masonry, welding and diesel mechanics.

Technical classes to be offered include office machines, word processing, basic programming, typewriting and basic EMT. Two classes of word processing and basic programming will be scheduled.

Academic classes proposed are principles of accounting, business law, general biology, anatomy and physiology, foreign programming, principles of economics, developmental English, and English composition I and II.

Other courses listed include world civilization I and II, American history I and II, personal and community health, college algebra, American national government, American state and local government, general psychology, marriage and family and oral communications.

The schedules listed are only tentative as it is necessary to enroll a minimum of 10 students per class. Some classes are limited to the availability of facilities and equipment.

Cost of individual classes will vary according to vocational, technical and academic free requirements. For more information call Pearl River Community College at 795-6801 and ask for academic and/or vocational/technical night class information.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS—Terry Randolph, superintendent of Hancock County Schools donated $1,500 to three senior students from Hancock North Central. Receiving the Superintendent's Scholarship in the amount of $500 each were, from left, Sandy Necaise, daughter of Sherman and Jackie Necaise of Dedeaux, who plans to attend Pearl River Junior College and major in Education; Leslie Ladner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyonie Ladner of Ansley, who plans to attend Pearl River Junior College and major in Business Education; and Erica Doby, daughter of Ms. Virginia Doby of Pearlington, who plans to attend the University of Mississippi in the fall and major in Pharmacy.

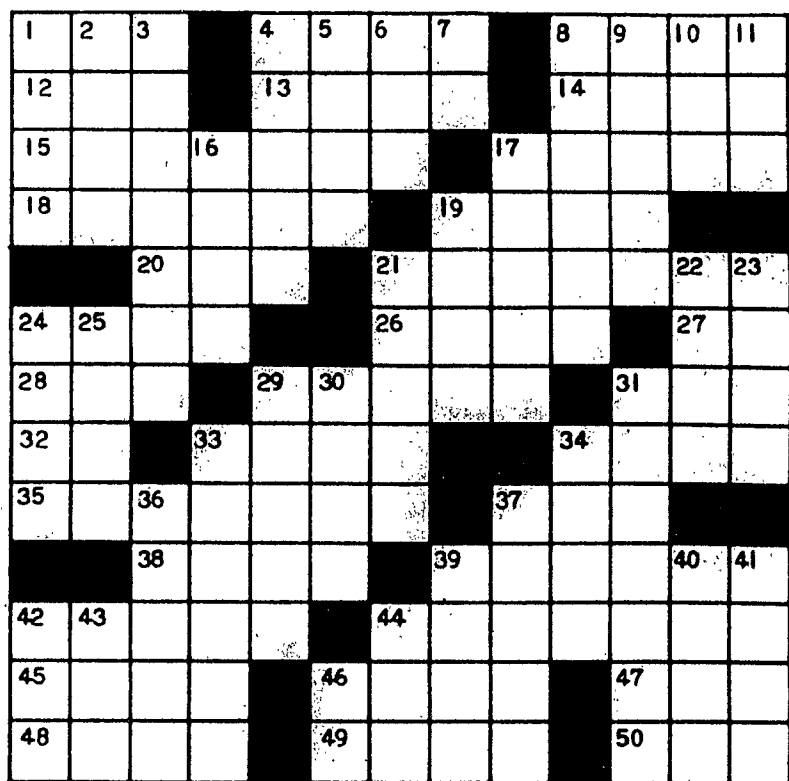

MERIT AWARD—Gretchen Elizabeth Zepernick of Diamondhead received the Greek Merit Award at the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque. She is Scholarship Chairman of the Gamma Beta Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma. She holds the Scholarship Key for the highest grade point average in the sorority membership. She is a Little Sister of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity. Zepernick is a junior in the university's general honors program where she majors in biology and chemistry. As a freshman she became a member of Phi Eta Sigma Honor Society and as a sophomore she received the Phi Kappa Award which is given to students who maintain a 4.0 grade point average. Gretchen also received the Dean of Students Award in May and is a Dean's List Scholar. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Zepernick of Diamondhead.

Feelin Fit!

Children do not get athlete's foot. For some reason the fungus will not grow on children's skin until they're teenagers. A child's foot rash is usually due to an allergy.

NO ANNUAL FEE!

A VISA® AND A MASTERCARD® WITH NO ANNUAL FEE!
While some credit cards charge $35 a year or more in annual fees, our Two-For-One offer gives you two of the most widely used credit cards in the world with no annual fee! It's an offer we're happy to extend to our valuable customers.

LOWER INTEREST RATES: You'll find our 18% APR to be one of the most competitive interest rates anywhere!

FREE RIDE PERIOD: If you pay your monthly balance in full by the due date on your statement, you will pay no interest and no finance charges will accumulate.

24-HOUR CASH: Get a cash advance from GullNet and Plus System automated teller machines, wherever you see the GullNet or Plus System logo.

CASH ADVANCES: Just show your card at any bank that honors VISA or MasterCard. A one time cash advance fee is charged at the time the cash advance is posted to your account and calculated at the rate of 4% of the amount of the cash advance transaction.

ONE SIMPLE STATEMENT: Your VISA and MasterCard activity will be separated on a single monthly statement. Write one check. What could be simpler?

SHOP AND COMPARE

We Offer The Best
Food Values Anywhere

Some stores force you to choose between buying quality products and saving money. But at WINN-DIXIE, we think you're entitled to both! So we offer top quality in everything we sell...from our famous W-D Brand U.S. Choice beef and Harvest Fresh produce to a wide selection of national brands and the family of familiar brands you've enjoyed for years. And when you consider that each week we choose dozens of these items and put extra-low prices on them, you'll see how WINN-DIXIE gives you both quality and savings. Every way. Every day.

AVAILABLE AT THESE MISSISSIPPI WINN-DIXIE LOCATIONS: HWY. 90 & MAIN STREET, BAY ST.
